

Architect – 2 Positions

Registered or non registered

SYDNEY

The Role

Architecture is the Company's fundamental focus. Key activities in architecture include the design and delivery process from concept through to construction stage services and contract administration.

The Architect has developed a sound knowledge base but is still developing skills and experience in project design and delivery.

The Architect is moving from executing tasks set by others to planning and assembling tasks to deliver project outcomes, utilizing additional resources at times.

The Architect is learning all that is required to design and deliver a project from briefing to consultant coordination and delivery, delegating tasks and further developing their client relationship skills.

The Architect is often part of a larger team, but can work in isolation under the direction of a Senior Architect.

The Architect will utilize their design / technical skills to achieve project design and/or project delivery in accordance with the Company's quality systems.
